

STELLA and the SEAGULL

Stella and the Seagull is a story about a girl named Stella who lives in a big city. One day, while she's stuck at home because of a lockdown, she notices a seagull outside her window. The bird becomes her new friend and helps her see the world in a new way.

At first, Stella feels lonely and bored, but by watching and caring about the seagull, she starts to notice nature all around her, even in the city. The story shows how small things can bring happiness, how nature keeps going, and how friendship and kindness can help us feel better when times are hard.

It's a gentle, hopeful story about connection, caring for the planet, and finding beauty in everyday life.

THIS HALF TERM'S TEXT:

WHAT CAN WE DO TO HELP?

Plastic is a huge threat to the ocean habitat. It is the most common type of litter thrown into the ocean. Rubbish and litter is a threat to any habitat in fact!

Next time you visit a beach or the park take part in a litter pick. But remember to follow these top tips:

- Wear suitable footwear to stay safe
- Wear protective gloves
- Do not touch or harm any wildlife
- Take your rubbish home with you when you leave the area
